

Clever Jobs

REFUND POLICY

Clever Jobs is a woman-owned small business in Austin, Texas which sells access to online clearinghouses for niche jobs via subscription. Consumers of the intellectual products published by Clever Jobs are subscribers to one or more digital platforms owned and published by Clever Jobs. These subscribers' access is maintained by PayPal's subscription management platform. When users sign up for a subscription to CarolinaClever, Christine's List, or other online products of Clever Jobs, they OPT IN to a recurring fee cycle that maintains their access.

As a subscriber to one of these web sites, you may cancel your subscription/fee cycle at any time without being obligated to future charges beyond the current term for which you have paid. After cancelation of your fee cycle on PayPal, your access to the product for which you subscribed will continue until the currently paid term has expired.

A convenient "Unsubscribe" button is provided on the JOIN page of all Clever Jobs websites, right where users first sign up. This button takes you to the exact spot inside your own PayPal for canceling or suspending the recurring fee cycle that keeps your subscription current. This is the only way to stop your fee cycle (aka "unsubscribe").

A subscriber to CarolinaClever, Christine's List or other online products of Clever Jobs is expected to take personal responsibility for managing their own subscription(s), according to their own inclination to start/stop the fee cycle that fuels each subscription.

Refunds are awarded at the company's discretion. We give refunds for dissatisfaction, or if a subscription was initiated in error. Refunds are not typically awarded just because a subscriber forgot to cancel their fee cycle. If your sign-up date is more than 7 days prior to your request for a refund, a refund will not typically be awarded because there is a legal presumption that you have "consumed" the intellectual product to which you had access during that very adequate time period.

If you experience trouble accessing the site after signing up and paying, please contact us immediately via the site's Help function.

Occasionally, older browsers and operating systems will not smoothly run the upgraded and oft-maintained websites published by Clever Jobs. Additionally, some employers including government agencies intentionally block their employees' access to job boards. You are encouraged to browse from your personal device rather than from a work device. Clever Jobs is not liable for access issues you may experience due to outdated browsers or hardware on your end, or due to institutional barriers to accessing the website(s).